

Our Unshakeable Comfort in Life

“God is in the midst of her; she shall not be moved; God will help her when morning dawns.”

(Ps 46:5)

This is the highest law of spirituality: “Lord, you have been our dwelling place in all generation.” (Ps 90:1) Stagnancy comes when we find substitutes that replace the truth of Psalm 89:7-8. The way of continual advancement of spiritual growth is to anchor our faith in Psalm 89:49. This is the way of Proverbs 4:11. Wisdom is in the laying hold of His steadfast love and unfailing faithfulness towards His bride. “Be strong and take heart, all you who hope on the Lord.” (Ps 31:24) Let trust be your main strength in life (Ps 31:14). Truly, reviving life will be our portion as we pressed forward steadfastly onto Hebrew 12:2.

This season, we should camp around the realm of Psalm 63:6-8. Hunger is abiding: our spiritual thirst will cause an unceasing yearning for the living waters of His presence. Seek for the living bread (Jn 6:51). Only the living communion of these living water and living bread (Jn 4:14) will our spiritual life never weakens or diminishes in glory. Do you continue to walk in deep fellowship with Him? (Jn 6:66)

The watchword for this hour: Mark 10:52. Simply, follow Him wherever He goes! He is our guide into the way of fulfillment. If we camp around this reality of Revelation 7:17, our spiritual garden will flourish greatly in the courts of His goodness. Seek His face and your spiritual life will be like unto Proverbs 4:18.
